

ENGLISH 301: INTRODUCTION TO COLLEGE READING AND WRITING
SPRING 2003

INSTRUCTOR: SUSAN DIENER

HOME PHONE: 224-9433

E-MAIL: susandiener@hotmail.com

AVAILABILITY:

I have to be at UNHM some time each week. I will be available to meet by appointment. You can call me at home or leave a message for me at the university if you need to contact me for any reason. You can also e-mail me at the above address.

TEXTS:

Cavitch, David Ed. Life Studies. (7th ed.) Boston: Bedford Books of St. Martin's Press, 2001.

Daniel, David, Chris Fauske, Peter Galeno, Debbie Mael. Take Charge of Your Writing. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 2001.

Hacker, Diana. A Writer's Reference. Third edition. New York: Bedford Books of St. Martin's Press, 1995.

COURSE MATERIALS:

3-ring binder or comparable with section dividers for log, homework, graded papers, papers in progress, research project and class notes. IMPORTANT: Keep all your work. You might be asked to add to something you are working on and you will be required to create a portfolio at the end of the semester which you will not be able to do unless you keep all papers, both graded and ungraded.

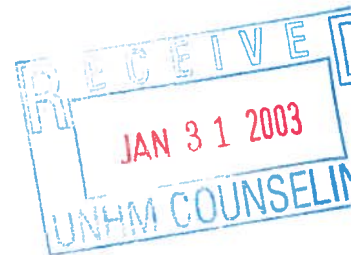

Your own, or access to, a quality dictionary.

GOALS:

- To teach basic writing skills, both higher and lower order skills
- To build good reading skills and provide opportunities to practice them
- To teach metacognitive skills (an awareness of your process of learning)
- To teach summarizing and paraphrasing
- To introduce library and research skills
- To introduce different views on a variety of subjects
- To introduce the culture and expectations of the academic community
- To teach the transferring of skills from this course to other college courses
- To foster intellectual curiosity
- To build confidence about being college students

OBJECTIVES:

- Students will be able to use Standard English to write a coherent paragraph that has a topic sentence, primary supporting ideas, and supporting detail.
- Students will be able to annotate texts in a meaningful way.

These are general guidelines, although the schedule is subject to change depending on the weather, class needs, etc.

Class activities will also include some in-class writing and various reading and writing exercises, as well as writing workshops, academic skill workshops, very brief student presentations, and occasional conferencing.

Quizzes will be random, will be based on the reading due that week, and may be announced or unannounced. There will be a midterm exam; part take-home, part in-class. The final exam is the portfolio.

HOMEWORK:

Homework is an integral part of the college process. In many classes homework is not collected or graded but is given for personal academic growth. In other classes homework consists of a few papers done over the course of the semester which will become your grade for the class. In this course homework is required. You will be responding to literature, writing about the writing process and writing major essays. You need to turn homework in on time. Rough drafts are a necessary part of the writing process and are due on time. It is impossible to workshop papers in class if students come unprepared. I will not take late homework and all major essays will lose half a grade for each day the paper is late.

Homework and all papers should be typed in 12 font and double-spaced.

Plagiarism and academic misconduct: Plagiarism is a serious offense. My policy is to assign consequences that suit the offense. For example, if the plagiarism is deliberate on a paper submitted for a grade, you might receive an F on the paper; if you are caught plagiarizing more than once, you might fail the course. For plagiarism that appears to be inadvertent, you will be required to rewrite the paper. Repeated incidents of plagiarism are inexcusable. See the university's policy of academic misconduct.

Students with disabilities: If you have a disability requiring classroom and/or testing accommodations, you must schedule an appointment with Carol Swiech in the Academic Counseling Office, room 270. Without correspondence from Carol, no accommodations will be made. If you have met with Carol, please meet with me after class to discuss your classroom and/or testing accommodations. You must bring documentation from Carol. Writing about learning hardships in a paper does not constitute a formal disclosure.

- Students will be able to write a concise summary
- Students will be able to paraphrase material from the textbook and from library research
- Students will be able to identify the main parts of a sentence and be able to model his/her own sentence on good examples; he/she will learn how to use a handbook.
- Students will learn and apply active reading strategies
- Students will develop metacognitive skills including activating prior learning, monitoring comprehension, reflecting on learning.
- Students will be able to write short papers (2-5 pages) on assigned topics
- Students will be able to select a topic for research, find secondary sources in the library, summarize these sources, evaluate these sources and create a bibliography in MLA format.
- Students will be able to contribute to writing workshop groups.
- Students will work with a tutor to improve his or her writing skills.
- Students will expand his/her vocabulary.
- Students will set short term and long term reading and writing goals.
- Students will monitor and evaluate his/her progress in the course regarding reading, writing, and adjustment to college.

To facilitate reading and writing development students will keep a reading/writing log in which he/she writes reading responses and other assigned entries. All these entries along with all other papers will be saved to create an end of the semester portfolio.

ATTENDANCE:

Attendance is important for many reasons. I expect you to attend classes and conferences. Please call me if you are unable to attend class or a conference with me. Likewise, if you have an appointment with our tutor, Dot, and are unable to attend, please notify her or leave a message well in advance at the Learning Center (641-4113). Unless you have worked out a plan with me, you will not be allowed to make up in-class writing assignments and/or tests. If you miss more than 3 classes and/or conferences, your final grade will be lowered by 5 points.

GRADING:

Your grade is based on the following:

30% The average of grades for all writing assignments done outside of class (graded essays)

15% The average of grades for other writing assignments, including quizzes, tests, specific writing exercises, my assessment of your preparation for class, class participation, conferences and work-shopping.

20% Completed reading/writing log (homework).

15% Completed rough drafts turned in on time

20% Completed and revised portfolio (completed information about the portfolio will be distributed later).

| Date        | Read                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Read/Write Logs                                                                                                                                                                                         | What will be covered                                                             |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| January 28  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                         | First day of classIntroductions & expectations, syllabus, writing samples    |
| January 30  | TCW: 1-11 "Self Assessment" Type out the writing experiences page with the answersWrite, draw, or create a 3D metaphor for writing. Be prepared for sharing.                                                                                                | TCW:Daniel 11Lamott 13O'Brien 17Write a paragraph explaining the purpose of each of these essays and who you think the audience is and whyTCW: 23-3135 Copeland39 Hughs | Academic reputation & academic insuranceAudience & purpose               |
| February 4  | TCW 1-11 "Self Assessment" change the word writing to reading and repeat the assignmentBring to class one verse of a song that addresses a social issueWrite one paragraph response to one of the following topics:LS: page 23 #5 or Page 43 #7 | LS:Ephron 16Staples 40TCW:Van Gelder 53Bambara 59Response journals                                                                                                          | Audience & PurposeActive & Analytical readingHandout graded paper #1 |
| February 6  | Using a prewriting strategy you read about, create a prewrite for paper #1                                                                                                                                                                                          | TCW:Daniel 79Goldberg 80Tallent 83Response journalsLS Finding a trail 1-10TCW: 67-77                                                                                            | Analytical readingDifferent types of prewriting                              |
| February 11 | Rough Draft of paper #1 is DUE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | TCW:Updike 98Marius 102Matheson 106Response journalsTCW: 87-98                                                                                                                      | Development of writingRough drafts                                       |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                      |                                                                        |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| February 13 | Bring in a 2 nd draft of your essay after working on: details, word choice, audience, the impression you want to create etc. Give your essay a title                                                                                        | Write a journal entry of your high school or 8 th grade graduation. Make it 1 to 1 ½ pp.THEN read LS: Angelou 258 | Personal VS analytical writingPatterns of analysis             |
| February 18 | Graded essay #1 is DUE. Bring in all the prewrites, rough drafts, revisions, and the final copy                                                                                                                                                        | TCW: Baldwin 227Sakamoto 231Baker 233Boyle 235Genesis 6 239Response journalsTCW: 207-226Simmons 65   | Analysis: Compare/Contrast                                             |
| February 20 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | LS: Tan 200Gardner 288Response journals                                                                                      | Analysis: ClassificationHandout assignment for graded paper #2 |
| February 25 | Prewrite for essay #2Review all car journal entries, and your homework assignments. Write at least one page about the three new skills and/or student behaviors you have developed or changed since you entered class. Cite specific examples. | TCW: 153-165                                                                                                                         | Analysis: Cause & effect                                               |
| February 27 | Rough draft of essay #2 due                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | LS: Orwell 557TCW 111-123Response journal                                                                                    | Graphic organizers for reading and writingPeer responses       |
| March 4     | Second draft of essay #2 dueBring colored pencils to class.Bring a dictionary and your Hacker's guide to class                                                                                                                                 | TCW: Kilbourne 168Response journalWrite a one page description of a TV commercial                                        | Grammar & the handbook: a how to                                       |
| March 6     | Essay #2 due for a grade                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | TCW: Hall 125                                                                                                                        | A quick look at the research paper                                     |

|          |                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                          |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| March 11 |                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                 | Library orientationResearch paperFinding a topic                                 |
| March 13 |                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                 | MIDTERM!                                                                                 |
| March 18 | Spring                                                                                          | Break                                                                                                                                                                           | Have Fun!                                                                                |
| March 20 | Spring                                                                                          | Break                                                                                                                                                                           | Be Safe!                                                                                 |
| March 25 | Bring in a list (5) of possible topic ideas                                                     | TCW 269-305                                                                                                                                                                     | Thesis statementsResearch questionsPurpose & audience                            |
| March 27 | Research topic needs to be cleared with me. Thesis due. Fill out research topic proposal        | One page journal entry: What do you think is the most difficult part of the research paper? The easiest? Where do you think you will spend your time as you work on this paper? | Finding sourcesEvaluating sourcesSummary & paraphrase                            |
| April 1  |                                                                                                 | Read Hacker's section on MLA documentation.LS:Watch & Learn 467-471                                                                                                     | MLA DocumentationIn-text citationPlagiarism                                      |
| April 3  | Rough draft of research paper due                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                 | RevisionQuestion & answer session                                                    |
| April 8  | Second draft of research paper due. Bring in 2 copies of your paper, scissors, and highlighters |                                                                                                                                                                                 | Organization                                                                             |
| April 10 | Third draft of research paper due                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                 | Last minute work.Questions & answersRepairs and peer editing                     |
| April 15 | Research paper due                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                 | Final copy of research paper dueRevisiting goalsIntroducing the persuasion paper |
| April 17 | A topic for the persuasion paper is due                                                         | LS:A Modest Proposal 541                                                                                                                                                    | Prewriting for the persuasion paper                                                      |
| April 22 | Rough draft of the persuasion paper due                                                         | LS:Should children play with guns 583                                                                                                                                       | Organizing your persuasion paperLooking at samples                                   |
| April 24 | Second draft of the persuasion paper due                                                        | LS:Our brutality to                                                                                                                                                         | Peer responses                                                                           |

|          |                                            |                                                                                                          |                                                                                                          |
|----------|--------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          |                                            | animals 549                                                                                              |                                                                                                          |
| April 29 | Persuasion paper due                       |                                                                                                          |                                                                                                          |
| May 1    | Bring your commercial description to class | Revisit Kilbourne Response Journal: how does your commercial fit with what Kilbourne is saying? (1-2 pp) |                                                                                                          |
| May 6    | Revision of commercial analysis due        |                                                                                                          | Peer response                                                                                            |
| May 8    | Commercial analysis due                    |                                                                                                          |                                                                                                          |
| May 13   |                                            |                                                                                                          | Self evaluationPutting together the portfolio. Bring all the work you've done this semester to class |
| May 15   | LAST DAY OF CLASS                          | PORTFOLIO DUE                                                                                            |                                                                                                          |