

ENGLISH 301: INTRODUCTION TO COLLEGE READING AND WRITING
SPRING 2004

INSTRUCTOR: SUSAN DIENER

HOME PHONE: 224-9433

E-MAIL: susandiener@hotmail.com

RECEIVED
FEB 18 2004

AVAILABILITY:

I have to be at UNHM some time each week. I will be available to meet by appointment. You can call me at home or leave a message for me at the university if you need to contact me for any reason. You can also e-mail me at the above address. However, if you must talk to me give me a call as I do not check my e-mail as often as I should.

TEXTS:

Cavitch, David Ed. Life Studies. (8th ed.) Boston: Bedford Books of St. Martin's Press, 2001.

Daniel, David, Chris Fauske, Peter Galeno, Debbie Mael. Take Charge of Your Writing. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 2001.

Hacker, Diana. A Writer's Reference. Third edition. New York: Bedford Books of St. Martin's Press, 1995.

COURSE MATERIALS:

3-ring binder or comparable with section dividers for log, homework, graded papers, papers in progress, research project and class notes. IMPORTANT: Keep all your work. You might be asked to add to something you are working on and you will be required to create a portfolio at the end of the semester which you will not be able to do unless you keep all papers, both graded and ungraded.

Your own, or access to, a quality dictionary.

GOALS:

- To teach basic writing skills, both higher and lower order skills
- To build good reading skills and provide opportunities to practice them
- To teach metacognitive skills (an awareness of your process of learning)
- To teach summarizing and paraphrasing
- To introduce library and research skills
- To introduce different views on a variety of subjects
- To introduce the culture and expectations of the academic community
- To teach the transferring of skills from this course to other college courses
- To foster intellectual curiosity
- To build confidence about being college students

OBJECTIVES:

- Students will be able to use Standard English to write a coherent paragraph that has a topic sentence, primary supporting ideas, and supporting detail.

- Students will be able to annotate texts in a meaningful way.
- Students will be able to write a concise summary
- Students will be able to paraphrase material from the textbook and from library research
- Students will be able to identify the main parts of a sentence and be able to model his/her own sentence on good examples; he/she will learn how to use a handbook.
- Students will learn and apply active reading strategies
- Students will develop metacognitive skills including activating prior learning, monitoring comprehension, reflecting on learning.
- Students will be able to write short papers (2-5 pages) on assigned topics
- Students will be able to select a topic for research, find secondary sources in the library, summarize these sources, evaluate these sources and create a bibliography in MLA format.
- Students will be able to contribute to writing workshop groups.
- Students will work with a tutor to improve his or her writing skills.
- Students will expand his/her vocabulary.
- Students will set short term and long term reading and writing goals.
- Students will monitor and evaluate his/her progress in the course regarding reading, writing, and adjustment to college.

To facilitate reading and writing development students will keep a reading/writing log in which he/she writes reading responses and other assigned entries. All these entries along with all other papers will be saved to create an end of the semester portfolio.

ATTENDANCE:

Attendance is important for many reasons. I expect you to attend classes and conferences. Please call me if you are unable to attend class or a conference with me. Likewise, if you have an appointment with a tutor and are unable to attend, please notify the tutor or leave a message in advance at the Learning Center (641-4113). Unless you have worked out a plan with me, you will not be allowed to make up in-class writing assignments and/or tests. If you miss more than 3 classes and/or conferences, your final grade will be lowered by 5 points.

GRADING:

Your grade is based on the following:

30% The average of grades for all writing assignments done outside of class (graded essays)

20% The average of grades for other writing assignments, including quizzes, tests, specific writing exercises, my assessment of your preparation for class, class participation, conferences and work-shopping.

20% Completed reading/writing log (homework).

30% Completed and revised portfolio (completed information about the portfolio will be distributed later).

These are general guidelines, although the schedule is subject to change depending on the weather, class needs, etc.

Class activities will also include some in-class writing and various reading and writing exercises, as well as writing workshops, academic skill workshops, very brief student presentations, and occasional conferencing.

Quizzes will be random, will be based on the reading due that week, and may be announced or unannounced. There will be a midterm exam; part take-home, part in-class. The final exam is the portfolio.

HOMEWORK:

Homework is an integral part of the college process. In many classes homework is not collected or graded but is given for personal academic growth. In other classes homework consists of a few papers done over the course of the semester which will become your grade for the class. In this course homework is required. You will be responding to literature, writing about the writing process and writing major essays. You need to turn homework in on time. I will not take late homework and all major essays will lose half a grade for each day the paper is late.

Homework should be typed in 12 font and double-spaced.

Plagiarism and academic misconduct: Plagiarism is a serious offense. My policy is to assign consequences that suit the offense. For example, if the plagiarism is deliberate on a paper submitted for a grade, you might receive an F on the paper; if you are caught plagiarizing more than once, you might fail the course. For plagiarism that appears to be inadvertent, you will be required to rewrite the paper. Repeated incidents of plagiarism are inexcusable. See the university's policy of academic misconduct.

Students with disabilities: If you have a disability requiring classroom and/or testing accommodations, you must schedule an appointment with Carol Swiech in the Academic Counseling Office, room 270. Without correspondence from Carol, no accommodations will be made. If you have met with Carol, please meet with me after class to discuss your classroom and/or testing accommodations. You must bring documentation from Carol.

Date	Write:	Read/Write Logs	What will be covered
January 27			First day of class Go over syllabus Writing Sample
January 29			Academic reputation & insurance Setting goals
February 3	Writing: Chapter 1 Self-Assessment Self evaluation handouts Writing handouts Write, draw, or create a 3D metaphor for writing. Be prepared for sharing	TCW: Daniel 11 Lamott 13 O'Brien 17 Write a paragraph explaining the purpose of each of these essays and who you think the audience is and why.	Active reading skills
February 5			Paragraphs Writing as a process
February 10	Writing: Chapter 4 Prewriting	TCW: Daniel 79 Goldberg 80 Talent 83 What kind of prewriting do you think these authors used and why?	Prewriting Handout graded Paper #1
February 12	Writing: Chapter 2 Audience Using a prewriting strategy you read about create a prewrite for paper #1	LS: Ephron 16 Staples 40 Staples 32 Copeland 35 Hughes 39 Kincaid 40 Write a one paragraph response to one of the following topics LS: page 23 #5 or page 47 #7.	Audience & Purpose
February 17	Writing: Chapter 3 Purpose	Van Gelder 53 Harjo 55 Bambara 59 LS: Finding a trail 1-	Analytical reading

		10 TCW: 67-77
February 19	Writing Chapter 5 Dev. & Expressing an idea Rough draft of paper #1 is due	Updike 98 Marius 102 Matheson 106 Response journals	Development of writing Peer responses & conferencing
February 24	Bring in a second draft of your essay after working on: details, word choice, audience, the impression you want to create, etc. Give your essay a title	Write a journal entry of your high school or 8 th grade graduation 1&1/2 pp. THEN read LS 258 Angelou	Personal Vs Analytical writing Patterns of analysis Peer responses & conferencing
February 26	Writing: Chapter 9 Analysis Graded essay #1 due Bring in all the prewrites, rough drafts, revisions and the final copy.	Baldwin 227 Sakamoto 231 Baker 233 Boyle 235 Genesis 6 239 Response journals LS: Simmons 65	Analysis: Compare and contrast
March 2	Handout assignment for graded essay #2	LS: Tan 200 Gardner 288 Response journals	Analysis: Classification
March 4	Writing: Chapter 7 Summary Prewrite for essay 2 Review all your journal entries, and your homework assignments. Write at least one page about the three new skills and/or student behaviors you have developed or changed since you entered class. Cite specific examples.	Baldwin 227 Sakamoto 231 Baker 233 Boyle 235 Genesis 6: 239	Analysis: Cause & effect
March 9	Writing: Chapter 6 Rewriting Rough draft of essay	King 124 Hall 125 Hughes 130 Heker 131	Graphic organizers for reading and writing Peer responding &

	#2 due	LS: Orwell 557 Response journal	conferencing
March 11	Second draft of essay #2 due Bring colored pencils to class. Bring a dictionary and the Hacker's guide to class	LS: It's Just Too Late p 83	Grammar & the handbook: a how to Peer responding & conferencing
March 16 - 18	Spring Break!	Have fun!	Be safe!
March 23	Graded paper #2 due for a grade		MIDTERM!

March 25	Writing: Chapter 11 Writing the research paper Bring in list (5) of possible topic ideas	TCW 269-305 LS: Women and the Future of Fatherhood p. 113	Introducing the research paper: Thesis statements Research questions Purpose & audience
March 30		LS: The Chemistry of Love p. 139 Response journal	Library orientation (Subject to change)
April 1	Research topic needs to be cleared with me. Thesis due. Fill out research topic proposal	One page journal entry: What do you think is the most difficult part of the research paper? The easiest? Where do you think you will spend your time as you work on this paper?	Finding sources Evaluating sources Summary & paraphrase
April 6		Read Hacker's section On MLA documentation LS: Watch & Learn 467-471	MLA Documentation In-text citation Plagiarism
April 8			Another library visit (subject to change)
April 13	Rough notes of research paper due Bring in 2 copies of notes (there's a photocopier on the 1 st floor for 10cents a copy)		Question & Answer session
April 15	Rough draft #1 of research paper due		Peer responding & conferencing

			Question & answer session
April 20	Bring in 2 copies of rough draft #2 of your research paper Bring in colored pencils, highlighters, and scissors		Organization
April 22			Last minute work Questions & Answers Repairs & peer editing
April 27	Writing: Chapter 10 Persuasion	Von Oech 251	Final copy of research paper due Revisiting goals Introducing the persuasion paper Prewriting for the persuasion paper
April 29	Rough draft #1 of the persuasion paper due	King, Jr. 262 LS: A Modest Proposal P. 541	Answering questions about the persuasion paper
May 4	Rough draft #2 of persuasion paper due		Organizing your persuasion paper Looking at samples Peer responses & conferencing
May 6	Final copy of persuasion paper due		Revisiting goals Portfolio requirements
May 11	Bring all parts of the portfolio to class		Wrapping up
May 13	Last Class!		Turn in portfolio